Management will also take care of restructuring of costly loans, leverage in derivative markets, margin funding for hedging operations, etc. Under the consultancy for business houses and promoters, the institute would offer corporate membership and if the employee is a member the corporate house would be given discount.

Addressing the investors present at the function chairman of Wasankar Wealth Management Dr Prashant Wasankar said that after conducting a detailed study of the market and current scenario, the company has decided to provide better advise to the investors as this is the right time to invest in the market.

With a view to fill the gap of consultant agency in the city, Wasankar Wealth Management started the initiative in this direction three years back, he said. Without causing any harm to the business interests, Wasankar Wealth Management was the first institute of the city to provide unbiased and fair advise to its customers. It was pioneer in introducing the chargeable premium life membership institute in the city and during the course of time has established its independent entity. At the same time, the institute has gained faith of thousands of investors and benefited them manifold, he said.

Later noted television artiste Raju Shrivastava entertained the audience. A large number of investors attended the programme.
